

Tiffany & Co. (NYSE: TIF) has announced the appointment of Philippe Galtié to the position of Senior Vice President – International, effective August 17th.

“This knowledge will have a significant impact on the oversight and management of our store design and strategic planning teams.”

Frédéric Cumenal, Chief Executive Officer of Tiffany & Co., said, “In addition to directing all of the sales channels for the EMEA, Greater China, Asia-Pacific and Japan regions, Philippe also brings to Tiffany & Co. a seasoned understanding of the global retail landscape.” Adding, “This knowledge will have a significant impact on the oversight and management of our store design and strategic planning teams.”

Mr. Galtié, 54, began his career with a range of general management and global marketing roles at Moët-Hennessy, Mars Inc., Eridania Beghin Say and the Nestlé Group. For the past 15 years Mr. Galtié held positions at Cartier, where he served as country head or other senior positions throughout Japan, Greater China and the Asia Pacific regions. Most recently, Mr. Galtié held the post of Cartier’s International Retail Director.
